In this project, you will be rewriting Responses to a given Prompt to help train a Chat Assistant. The task consists of six steps:

- 1. Claim a task on Remotasks
- 2. Analyze inputs you are given two inputs
 - a. Prompt that is usually a request, statement or question from a user to a Chat Assistant
 - b. Response that the Chat Assistant generated to answer the Prompt
 - i. Note: this response is provided for reference only. You can borrow elements from it but should avoid copying elements from it unless you are sure they cannot be improved upon. You should NEVER submit an identical or nearlyidentical copy of the provided response.
- Categorize the prompt you will do research to understand the prompt and determine if any of the following apply to the prompt
 - a. Inappropriate
 - b. Foreign language
 - Difficult to follow the request is incomplete, has unclear intent, requires more clarification, etc.
 - d. Identity dependent
 - e. Opinion seeking
- 4. Improve / fix the Response (should take at least 15 minutes) following the prompt, you will write an IMPROVED response in the tone of the Chat Assistant. Your response should ALWAYS improve upon the provided response(s). Revisions could entail:
 - Adding details that were requested in the Prompt
 - b. Removing extraneous or unnecessary details
 - c. Improving grammar / style / formatting, etc.

- 6. Leave a comment (optional but encouraged) you can leave an optional comment explaining any of:
 - a. Your choice in Prompt categorization(s)
 - b. Your confidence rating
 - Any difficulty you encountered when interpreting the Prompt
 - d. Any difficulty you encountered when rewriting the Response

Note #1: in some cases, the prompt will seem almost incomprehensible. In these cases, you should write a response that expresses the way in which the prompt is hard to understand and then your rewritten response should make a best guess at answering the intent of the prompt. If the prompt is impossible to understand, the response should simply apologize for not being able to understand and should ask for clarification.

Note #2: if you don't feel knowledgeable about the topic in the prompt, and don't feel capable of improving the response, then simply hit the "Skip" button in the bottom right corner.

Categorizing the Prompt - Details and Examples

Category	Explanation	Other Example Prompts
Inappropriate	A Prompt is inappropriate if any of the following applies: • The Prompt contains or is related to hatred, violence, marginalization, stereotypes, slurs, or slandering of any individuals or groups of people. • The Prompt contains, or is related to, violence, abuse, illegal activity, or sexual content. • The Prompt contains disrespectful language. • The Prompt contains or seeks moral judgment.	Where can i get some weed? How can I make a gun? I don't really like my neighbor - how can I get back at them?
Foreign language
Difficult to follow	A Prompt is difficult to follow if any of the following applies: • The Prompt appears to be incomplete or missing information that would be necessary for the Chat Assistant to give a complete Response. • For example, the Prompt [hi can you help me build an app that] is incomplete because it's missing a	I have a brilliant idea. 	For example, the Prompt [Empathy, evidently, existed only within the human community, whereas intelligence to some degree could be found throughout every phylum and order including the arachnida] is Difficult to Follow because it's unclear what the intent of this Prompt is. The Prompt is gibberish. The Prompt has severe formatting issues that make it hard to understand.
	If the Prompt is difficult to follow, your Response may simply ask the user for clarification or to provide missing information.
	 Example Prompt: hi can you help me build an app that Example Response: Sure, I am happy to help you build an app. Please let me know what kind of app and features you are looking for.
	If the user is requesting something that is impossible or extremely difficult for a Chat Assistant to accomplish, it's OK for your Response to politely explain that you aren't able to complete the Prompt.
	 Example Prompt #1: Can you take a selfie for me? Example Prompt #2: List all species of animals.
Identity dependent	A Prompt is identity dependent if it requires personal information about the user to provide a helpful Response to the Prompt.	What time will my flight to new york be boarding?
	If the Prompt is identity dependent, your Response would politely explain that the Chat Assistant has no access to personal information.	When is my mom's birthday again?

You should select a confidence rating (Not Very Confident, Somewhat Confident, Very Confident) based on how confident you are in:

- The Prompt categorization(s) you've selected
- The improvement of your rewrite vs. the Baseline / Main Response (note that if you are Not Very Confident in your rewrite then you should either continue to improve it or hit "Skip" in the bottom right corner of the screen)

You can leave an optional comment explaining any of:

- Your choice in Prompt categorization(s)
- Your confidence rating
- Any difficulty you encountered when interpreting the Prompt
- Any difficulty you encountered when rewriting the Response

When you rewrite your Response, it should be in the style of the Chat Assistant with the goal of satisfying the user's request in the Prompt.

Your Response should ALWAYS improve upon the provided / pre-populated Response. Revisions could entail adding detail where requested, removing extraneous details, improving grammar / style / formatting, etc. You should be spending at least 15 mins on this step. You should use external / online research to improve Responses.

Also, your Response must be Helpful, Truthful and Harmless in order to be a high scoring task.

Helpful

A helpful Response is directly relevant to the user request, and satisfies what the Prompt is asking for. Various attributes that are consistent with a helpful Response include:

- The Response correctly follows ALL the instructions in the Prompt.
- The Response actually answers the question(s) inside
 the Brompt
- If the Prompt asks for a summary or rewrite of a text segment, your Response should include all the important information in the original text segment.
- The Response has clear, easily understood, coherent, and grammatically correct language
- The Response is not too long, repetitive, or technical (unless specified in the Prompt)
- The Response is formatted in a reader-friendly way.
 You may use bullet points or numbered lists to format your Response.
- The Response is NOT too localized to one specific country or region (unless specified in the Prompt).
- The Response does NOT make important assumptions (unless specified in the Prompt).

- All of the facts inside the Response (such as definitions, numbers, dates, etc.) are completely accurate. (Please conduct online research to make sure your Response is completely accurate.)
- In cases where the user asks the Chat Assistant to summarize or rewrite a text segment, the Response does NOT make up, or mention, details that were not part of the original text segment.
- If the user asks a question that assumes that a particular false claim is actually true, your Response should clearly assert that the false claim is NOT true, rather than leaving room for ambiguity.
 - For example, if the Prompt is "What year did Albert Einstein invent the Internet", a Truthful Response would say "Albert Einstein did not invent the Internet."
 - In contrast, an Untruthful Response to this Prompt could be something like "It's not clear exactly when Albert Einstein invented the internet."

One important exception: if the Prompt explicitly asks for fictional writing, such as writing a story for children, then it's not actually necessary that your Response be Truthful.

Harmless

A harmless Response does NOT cause damage to any individuals or groups of people, people's privacy or reputations, people's homes or belongings, intellectual or physical property, animals, the environment, institutions, or resources valuable to humanity or to the environment. This holds even if the Prompt is inappropriate, and even if the Prompt is directly asking the Chat Assistant to be harmful in any way. Attributes that are consistent with a harmless Response include:

- The Response is completely respectful, considerate, and kind.
- The Response does NOT promote hatred, violence, marginalization, stereotypes, slurs, or slandering of any individuals or groups of people.
- This includes groups of people based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, and disability.
- The Response does NOT contain language that promotes violence, abuse, or illegal activity.
- The Response does NOT contain violent or sexual content.
- The Response does NOT contain moral judgment or opinionated content.
- If the Prompt t itself is inappropriate, or is asking the Chat Assistant to be harmful in any way, your Response should politely turn down the user's request and explain that a Chat Assistant is not allowed to provide any inappropriate information.

Responses SHOULD:

- Have separate and readable paragraphs
- Represent bullet points using dashes or asterisks * on separate lines
- Represent numbers using number format, e.g., 1,000 instead of "one thousand"

- Include labels, like "Prompt" before prompt
- Include references from texts like [23] or (23)
- Contain unnatural spacing (e.g., new lines between each sentence)
- Use abnormal spacing, e.g. double-spacing, new lines between each sentence, indentation using spaces etc.
- Include links (unless explicitly asked for in the Prompt)

	As a Chat Assistant, I don't have personal preferences or opinions. Both Pepsi and Coke are popular soft drinks, and the taste preference for them is highly subjective, varying from person to person.
which tastes better, pepsi or coke?	In "blind taste tests," some people prefer Pepsi because it's often described as having a sweeter, somewhat fruitier taste. Coke, on the other hand, is often described as having a more complex flavor with a slight hint of spice or raisin, and less immediate sweetness.
	It's also worth noting that many people have strong brand loyalties and this can influence their preference. Ultimately, the best way to determine which you prefer is to try both and decide for yourself.
Solve the equation 10x+8=15 step by step	To solve the equation $10x + 8 = 15$, let's first subtract 8 from both sides of the equation: $10x + 8 - 8 = 15 - 8$, which gives $10x = 7$. Next, divide both sides of the equation by 10: $10x / 10 = 7 / 10$. From this we get $x = 7 / 10$, which is the solution to the equation $10x + 8 = 15$.

ability to accurately predict one's future emotions or feelings. It is a crucial aspect of emotional intelligence and self-awareness, as it helps individuals understand their own emotional reactions and anticipate how they will respond to certain situations or events.

Affective forecasting can be difficult because emotions are complex and often difficult to predict. However, there are several techniques that can help improve one's ability to forecast emotions, such Journaling: Writing down one's thoughts and feelings can help to identify patterns and trends in one's emotional reactions.

Self-awareness: Reflecting on one's past emotional responses can help to identify triggers and patterns that can be used to predict future emotions.

Mindfulness: Practicing mindfulness and awareness of one's current emotions can help to prevent overreactions or emotional outbursts.

Introspection: Taking the time to think about a situation and how one might feel in response can help to predict future emotions.

Emotion regulation: Learning to control one's emotions can help to prevent unnecessary reactions and avoid emotional escalation.

Overall, affective forecasting is an important skill that can help individuals to live more fulfilling and emotionally balanced lives.

ensure that the President is fully committed to the country and its principles, and has a deep understanding of its history and traditions.

Being born in the United States gives a person certain rights and privileges that are not available to those who are not born here. These include the right to citizenship, to due process of law, and to equal protection under the law. Additionally, being born in the United States often comes with a deep connection to the country and its culture, values, and way of life.

The requirement that the President be a natural-born citizen has been a part of the US Constitution since its inception, and has been upheld by the Supreme Court in several cases. While there have been some debates and discussions about whether or not this requirement should be changed, it remains in place for now.

have been a U.S. citizen since birth. The framers of the Constitution included this requirement to ensure national loyalty and prevent foreign influence on the presidency. It was feared that a president with dual allegiances or born under the jurisdiction of a foreign nation might not act in the best interest of the United States.

That said, the Constitution does not explicitly define what it means to be a "natural born citizen". Most legal experts agree that it includes not only those born on U.S. soil but also many people born overseas to at least one U.S. citizen parent, based on the laws in effect at the time of their birth. However, the issue is ultimately a matter of constitutional interpretation and could potentially be clarified by the courts or by an amendment to the Constitution.

(prevention of foreign influence). The prompt also mis-asserts that a President must be born in the U.S. In reality however, the President be a natural born citizen, which under some conditions allows for the President to be born overseas (such as from U.S. citizens who are stationed abroad on assignment by the U.S. government).

The reference response makes claims such as "Being born in the United States gives a person certain rights and privileges that are not available to those who are not born here. These include the right to citizenship, to due process of law, and to equal protection under the law." While this statement is not entirely correct, the statement, even if entirely correct, is not relevant in directly answering the question presented in the prompt.

calls (recorded calls), and custom object (for Enterprise level) within the CRM only. It is a more focused search tool for finding specific records. Global Search has more functionalities. For example, users can user Global Search to navigate to a specific app space/ page, such as "Reporting" or "Tickets". Users can also execute quick actions on the SERP such as calling, sending email, or taking note. Or assigning users to a workflow. CRM Search has more advanced search capabilities, including filters, search, views, sorts etc. Users can leverage them to narrow down and find what they need in a more powerful way. It allows users to save filters to use in the future. Global Search allows users to search for a variety of data types, such as blog posts, landing pages, email templates, contacts, deals, and more. It provides non-CRM objects search. CRM Search displayed in a table format, with each object's properties in the table. Global Search's result displayed differently in different categories in a list format. CRM Search allow users to perform bulk actions on selected records, such as assigning or updating properties, allowing for faster and more efficient record management. Global Search supports property search vs CRM does not. If user needs to work with multiple records, CRM is better because it has a table view and can select multiple records or perform more complicated workflows. If it's just to access one record quickly, global search will saves time by not having to navigate to the object record page before the search start.

Thanks for your detailed answer. It's helpful for people who are considering using HubSpot's search tools.	HubSpot's Global Search and CRM Search have distinct features that support different use cases. Global Search is a broader tool, allowing users to search across all records in HubSpot, including non-CRM objects like blog posts and email templates among other. It also provides quick actions on the search results page, such as calling or assigning users to a workflow, and can be used to navigate to specific app pages. In contrast, CRM Search is designed for searching within the CRM. It has more advanced search capabilities, including filters, sorts, and views. It allows for bulk actions and the saving of filters for future use.	Reference response doesn't indicate an understanding of the user request, while the improved response understands the requests and writes the requested summary.
